

CHILDREN'S BOOK AUTHOR KELLY STARLING LYONS

Growing up, I loved to read, but I rarely saw children's books featuring characters of color. I write so kids today have a different reality. My books include CCBC Choices-honored picture book, One Million Men and Me; Ellen's Broom, a Coretta Scott King Illustrator Honor Book, Bank Street Best and Junior Library Guild selection and Tea Cakes for Tosh and Hope's Gift, Notable Trade Books in the Field of Social Studies. My latest picture book, One More Dino on the Floor, is a Scholastic Reading Club pick. I'm a founding member of The Brown Bookshelf, a blog that celebrates Black children's book creators, and present at schools, libraries, festivals and conferences around the country.

Check out my Jada Jones chapter book series, illustrated by award-winning artist Vanessa Brantley Newton. Learn more and contact me at www.kellystarlinglyons.com.

"With a nice balance of friendship, drama, and the much-needed representation of girls of color who revel in scientific pursuits, this is a strong purchase for most collections."

– School Library Journal